

THE CHARTERED GOVERNANCE INSTITUTE OF CANADA

Leaders in the practice of good governance.

ABOUT THE INSTITUTE:

The Chartered Governance Institute of Canada was established in 1920.

Members include over 1,000 Chartered Secretaries, Chartered Governance Professionals, Accredited Directors, Professional Administrators, and individuals who are interested in corporate governance located across Canada and in Bermuda.

The Chartered Governance Institute is an international professional body with a network of nine local institutes (divisions) supporting over 29,000 members living and working in over 80 countries.

UNIQUE VALUE PROPOSITION:

Chartered Secretaries and Chartered Governance Professionals are the primary source of trusted advice to Boards of Directors and leaders in the practice of good governance.

CGIC is the only global qualifying organization in Canada that grants Chartered status to professionals like you, and is committed to empowering, strengthening and advancing your status.

CGIC's designations are your passport to the world, and our International Qualifying Program will set you apart.

Join us and be part of a truly global network.

MISSION:

CGIC provides quality education, training, services, and advocacy to support excellence in governance.

There has never been a better time to be involved in governance and there is no better way to gain the right skills and credentials than by planning your professional development with CGIC.

Our trusted qualifications and training will build your knowledge, skills, and confidence and open the door to new career opportunities. Whether you are seeking to get to grips with governance or looking for a fast track to working as a Board Director, we are here to help.

CERTIFICATION & EDUCATION

International Qualifying Program (IQP):

Internationally recognized certification for Chartered Secretaries and Chartered Governance Professionals. It shows that you have the knowledge, skills, and experience to take on a job with significant and wide-ranging responsibilities.

Modules include: Corporate Governance, Company Compliance and Administration, Company Law, Interpreting Financial and Accounting Information, Development of Strategy, Risk Management, and Boardroom Dynamics.

The time investment is significant - up to 200 hours of study are required per module. The work is challenging, rising to the level of work required to complete a postgraduate degree.

Directors' Education and Accreditation Program (DEAP):

A short, intensive, and effective way for individuals to gain insight into the role of a director of a board and provide them with knowledge of key areas related to that role. The program provides the tools to help you manage your responsibility to your organization, its stakeholders, and yourself in the best possible way. Designed for busy people who want to enhance their competencies, DEAP offers knowledge in the areas of governance, financial reporting and disclosure, strategy development, and risk management that current board Directors, or those considering becoming board Directors, need to know. DEAP graduates earn Acc.Dir. post-nominals and become Subscriber-level members of The Institute.

Continuing Professional Development (CPD):

Undertaking professional development allows you to keep your knowledge and business skills up to date, develop your skills, support professional growth, and may further your career. All members of CGIC are encouraged to partake in ongoing professional development.

MEMBERSHIP:

Becoming a member of The Chartered Governance Institute of Canada (CGIC) takes your corporate governance career to the next level.

As a member, you have access to exclusive resources that help you stay agile and ahead of the curve of global developments and best practice in governance. CGIC programs provide the tools you need to undertake governance roles within an organization at both the administrative and oversight levels.

Our members also have access to professionals globally who have a shared purpose and common values. We are the only organization in Canada that can facilitate the international movement of governance professionals and their ideas, ensuring member portability.

CGIC has two main classes of membership:

Chartered Membership:

The Chartered Governance Professional qualification is internationally recognized, provides you with a professional governance and compliance perspective, and enables you to work in leadership positions in the private, public, or not-for-profit sectors, or establish your own business offering professional services and independent advice.

Subscriber Membership:

Subscriber membership is for aspiring governance practitioners looking to expand their knowledge. Individuals should have an interest in good governance and meet the requirements to serve as a board director in Canada.

Gain instant recognition of your professional and academic achievement.
